

Mary Akapo

Associate

Composed. Driven. Strategic.

Mary Akapo is a powerful presence on Stewart Law Group's Commercial Litigation and Insurance Defense teams. She built her foundation in high-volume litigation, gaining experience in personal injury and foreclosure matters, and she brings a versatile skill set that allows her to adapt quickly and execute with precision. Mary's ability to transition seamlessly between complex case management and detailed client advocacy makes her a valuable asset to SLG and its clients.

MARY IS THE CALM STRATEGIST.

In the arena of litigation, Mary is known for her sharp legal mind, clear communication, and steady focus under pressure. She anticipates challenges, develops winning strategies, and delivers with discipline. Whether she is building a case strategy, negotiating with opposing counsel, or preparing for trial, Mary brings structure and composure that instill confidence in those around her. Clients and colleagues alike recognize her as insightful, reliable, and relentless in pursuit of success.

Her track record includes representing national lenders, navigating complex regulatory frameworks, and advocating on behalf of clients. She is methodical in preparation yet adaptable in execution, thriving in fast-paced cases where the stakes are high. Mary balances attention to detail with big-picture strategy and stays several steps ahead to protect her clients' interests at every stage of litigation.

Outside the courtroom, Mary continues to lead with service and integrity. She is an active member of the Dallas Bar Association and the Allied Bars Equality Committee. Her dedication to community extends to her volunteer work with Habitat for Humanity, the USDA Summer Food Service Program, and multiple mission-based outreach trips. These experiences reflect her commitment to inclusion, equity, and improving the lives of others.

Mary is also a proud graduate of Texas Tech School of Law, where she advanced diversity and student leadership initiatives. She credits this period with shaping her collaborative mindset and reinforcing her belief in the power of preparation, resilience, and service.

At Stewart Law Group, Mary combines grit and grace to deliver clear, confident, and client-centered representation. She is both a calm strategist and a fierce competitor who never loses sight of the ultimate goal: achieving results that matter.
